Study human—animal bond; pet therapy; social work practice. A growing body of literature on the importance of companion animals should be integrated into social work practice. By two international experts in the human—other. Dentons advises Lietuvos Energija on its second international green bond. This book introduces students and professionals in mental health, human–animal relationships, sleep paralysis, and international psychology. Although this anthology uses psychology as the focal point to integrate under-.